Dear LMSA Supporter,

It is true that racial and ethnic disparities persist at every step along the premedical and medical education pipeline. Sadly, these disparities persist and manifest in the health of our communities, access to healthcare and to healthcare delivery itself. These disparities not only persist, but they are growing. Our organization, the Latino Medical Student Association, was born out of concern for these very issues. In particular, we were founded to represent, support, educate, and unify U.S. Latino(a) medical students.

Every month our medical student leaders work at the national level to coordinate activities across our five regions; in order to further our mission. As part of that work, we hold an annual national conference bringing together U.S. Latino(a) medical students to address healthcare disparities, minority medical and premedical education, and to promote leadership and professional development. And this year for the very first time, I am pleased to announce that the 5th Annual National Conference of the Latino Medical Student Association (LMSA) will be held independent of our generous partner in the past, the National Hispanic Medical Association. We anticipate over 200 Latino(a) medical students at this year's conference in the "Windy City", Chicago. The conference will be held March 4-7, 2010 at the UIC Forum.

It is our sincere hope that we can count on your support to help us mark this momentous event. We have a number of options for supporting this year's conference activities. For the first time, we will have a residency fair for residency programs and exhibitor fair for sponsors. Advertisements will be sold in our conference program, the 4th edition of our student-to-student residency guide, and our quarterly newsletter. Finally, we are offering packages featuring all of our sponsorship opportunities. Together, we can stem the tide of inequity that has persisted for far too long and bring a voice to these important issues in the healthcare debate.

Sincerely,

Michael A. Lopez
